

Hammond Residential Establishes Hammond University

Hammond Residential Group announces the foundation of Hammond University, a private-label, multifamily-based education curriculum for their employees. “I’m proud to have my name on this program,” says Val Hammond, Principal Founder and CEO. “With these courses, we’re offering our employees a chance to be the very best they can at their job. Plus, it’s great for our owners, too.”

Courses are offered for all company job descriptions, many are mandatory, and titles includes courses like “Fair Housing For the Maintenance Team,” “Selling Without a Special,” and two risk management courses, “Protecting People” and “Protecting Your Property and Reputation.”

All content is professionally produced and presented in an engaging storytelling format. Online courses are available 24/7/365 and content is self-paced for greater flexibility. Course scheduling and both pre- and post-test scores are captured for every H University student.

“We didn’t leave out the maintenance team, either,” notes Joyce Stone, HRG Partner and President. “You mostly build your company one good employee at a time, so it just makes sense to offer a training program that has something for everyone. We’ve had a “Preventative Maintenance” course for years, and our people have been proud to participate. I know that Hammond U will be just as successful for us.”